UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
SAN JOSE DIVISION

NATIONAL URBAN LEAGUE, et al.,
Plaintiffs,
v.
Defendants.

Case No. 20-CV-05799-LHK

ORDER GRANTING MOTION FOR TEMPORARY RESTRAINING ORDER

Re: Dkt. No. 66

Plaintiffs National Urban League; League of Women Voters; Black Alliance for Just Immigration; Harris County, Texas; King County, Washington; City of Los Angeles, California; City of Salinas, California; City of San Jose, California; Rodney Ellis; Adrian Garcia; National Association for the Advancement of Colored People; City of Chicago, Illinois; County of Los Angeles, California; Navajo Nation; and Gila River Indian Community (collectively, “Plaintiffs”) sue Defendants Commerce Secretary Wilbur L. Ross, Jr.; the U.S. Department of Commerce; the Director of the U.S. Census Bureau Steven Dillingham, and the U.S. Census Bureau (“Bureau”) (collectively, “Defendants”) for violations of the Enumeration Clause and Administrative Procedure Act.

Before the Court is Plaintiffs’ September 3, 2020 motion for a temporary restraining order

1 (“TRO motion”), enjoining Defendants from implementing Defendants’ August 3, 2020 Replan, 2 which shortens census data collection and processing timelines from the eight months set forth in 3 the Defendants’ April 13, 2020 COVID-19 Plan to four months. Plaintiffs claim that the Replan’s
4 shortened timelines will unlawfully harm the accuracy of crucial census data. Plaintiffs request
5 that the TRO remain in effect for twelve days, until the September 17, 2020 hearing on Plaintiffs’
6 motion for stay and preliminary injunction (“PI motion”).

7 Temporary restraining orders “serv[e] the[] underlying purpose of preserving the status quo 8 and preventing irreparable harm just so long as is necessary to hold a hearing, and no longer.”
9 Granny Goose Foods, Inc. v. Bhd. of Teamsters & Auto Truck Drivers Local No. 70 of Alameda
10 Cty., 415 U.S. 423, 439 (1974); accord, e.g., E. Bay Sanctuary Covenant v. Trump, 932 F.3d 742, 11 779 (9th Cir. 2018) (“a TRO ‘should be restricted to . . . preserving the status quo and preventing 12 irreparable harm just so long as is necessary to hold a hearing and no longer”) (ellipsis in original).

13 “[S]erious questions going to the merits’ and a balance of hardships that tips sharply 14 towards the plaintiff can support issuance of a preliminary injunction [or TRO], so long as the 15 plaintiff also shows that there is a likelihood of irreparable injury and that the injunction [or TRO]
16 is in the public interest.” All. for the Wild Rockies v. Cottrell, 632 F.3d 1127, 1135 (9th Cir. 2011); 17 accord Short v. Brown, 893 F.3d 671,675 (9th Cir. 2018) (holding that these factors are “on a 18 sliding scale”). Thus, “when the balance of hardships tips sharply in the plaintiff’s favor, the 19 plaintiff need demonstrate only ‘serious questions going to the merits.’” hiQ Labs, Inc. v.
20 LinkedIn Corp., 938 F.3d 985, 992 (9th Cir. 2019) (quoting All. for the Wild Rockies, 632 F.3d at 21 1135). The issuance of a TRO is at the Court’s discretion. See All. for the Wild Rockies, 632 F.3d 22 at 1131.

23 The Court has considered the TRO motion, opposition, and reply; the parties’ oral 24 arguments at the September 4, 2020 TRO hearing; the PI motion and opposition; the relevant law;
25 and the record in this case. Below the Court analyzes in turn (1) the presence of serious questions 26 going to the merits; (2) irreparable harm; (3) the balance of hardships; and (4) the public interest.
27 All. for the Wild Rockies, 632 F.3d at 1135.

1 The Court finds that Plaintiffs have presented serious questions going to the merits at least 2 as to Plaintiffs’ claims under the Administrative Procedure Act (“APA”). The Court does not 3 prejudge these claims, but merely recognizes that the Plaintiffs have presented serious questions 4 going to the merits of these claims.

5 For example, there are serious questions as to whether the Replan is reviewable by this 6 Court. There is a serious question as to whether Plaintiffs have standing to challenge the Replan.
7 See Dep’t of Commerce v. New York, 139 S. Ct. 2551, 2565–66 (2019) (holding that Plaintiffs had 8 standing because an undercount of “as little as 2%” of noncitizen households constituted an injury 9 in fact and was traceable to the Defendants’ actions). Additionally, there is a serious question as to 10 whether the Replan constitutes final agency action. Although the United States Supreme Court 11 decided in Franklin v. Massachusetts that the Secretary of Commerce’s transmission of a final 12 Census report to the President is not final agency action, there is a serious question as to whether 13 Franklin governs the facts in the instant case. 505 U.S. 788, 798 (1992) (explaining that the 14 transmission was not final agency action because it “carries no direct consequences for the 15 apportionment”). Finally, there is a serious question as to whether the Replan is committed to 16 agency discretion by law. See Dep’t of Commerce v. New York, 139 S. Ct. at 2568 (noting that 17 “census-related decisionmaking” is traditionally reviewable under the Administrative Procedure 18 Act).

19 There are also serious questions as to whether the Replan was arbitrary and capricious in 20 violation of the APA. See 5 U.S.C. § 706(2)(A). The APA requires that Defendants consider the 21 “important aspect[s] of the problem” before them. Motor Vehicle Mfrs. Ass’n v. State Farm Mut.
22 Ins. Co., 463 U.S. 29, 43 (1983). Although Defendants justify the Replan based on the statutory 23 deadline, Plaintiffs suggest that Defendants have failed to consider their other statutory 24 obligations, including the statutory requirement that Defendants “conduct a census that is accurate 25 and that fairly accounts for the crucial representational rights that depend on the census and the 26 apportionment.” Dep’t of Commerce v. New York, 139 S. Ct. at 2569 (quoting Franklin, 505 U.S.
27 at 819–20 (Stevens, J., concurring in part and concurring in the judgment)). Thus, there are 1 serious questions going to the merits of the Plaintiffs' APA claims.

2 As to irreparable harm, Plaintiffs identify and support with affidavits four potential
3 irreparable harms that Plaintiffs will suffer as a result of inaccurate census data. First, Plaintiffs 4 state that an inaccurate apportionment will violate their constitutional rights to political 5 representation. Mot. 29. Second, Plaintiffs risk losing important federal funding from 6 undercounting. Mot. 30. Third, Plaintiffs will need to expend resources to mitigate the 7 undercounting that will result from the Replan. Mot. 31. Lastly, local government Plaintiffs' costs 8 will increase because those Plaintiffs rely on accurate granular census data to deploy services and 9 allocate capital.

10 These harms are potentially irreparable in two ways. To start, at least part of the harms 11 may be constitutional in nature, and "the deprivation of constitutional rights 'unquestionably 12 constitutes irreparable injury.'" Melendres v. Arpaio, 695 F.3d 990, 1002 (9th Cir. 2012) (quoting 13 Elrod v. Burns, 427 U.S. 347, 373 (1976)). Moreover, to the extent the harm involves expending 14 money or resources, "[i]f those expenditures cannot be recouped, the resulting loss may be 15 irreparable." Philip Morris USA Inc. v. Scott, 561 U.S. 1301, 1304 (2010) (Scalia, J., in 16 chambers). Because the decennial census is at issue here, an inaccurate count would not be 17 remedied for another decade, which would affect the distribution of federal and state funding, the 18 deployment of services, and the allocation of local resources for a decade. Similar harms have 19 thus justified equitable relief in previous census litigation. See, e.g., Dep't of Commerce v. U.S.
20 House of Representatives, 525 U.S. 316, 328–34 (1999) (affirming injunction against the planned 21 use of statistical sampling in census and citing apportionment harms, among others); New York v.
22 United States Dep't of Commerce, 351 F. Supp. 3d 502, 675 (S.D.N.Y.) (issuing injunction and 23 finding irreparable "the loss of political representation and the degradation of information"), aff'd 24 in part, rev'd in part and remanded sub nom. Dep't of Commerce v. New York, 139 S. Ct. 2551.
25 Plaintiffs attached to their TRO motion an internal Bureau document indicating that the Replan's 26 compressed deadlines increase the risk of inaccuracy in the census count. ECF No. 66-3.
27 Plaintiffs aver that each day that the Census does not conduct its field operations to reach and

1 count hard to reach populations increases the inaccuracy of the census count and thus increases 2 their irreparable harm.

3 By contrast, a temporary restraining order would merely require Defendants to do what 4 Defendants had planned to do and were doing since April 13, 2020, when Defendants adopted the 5 COVID-19 Plan, through August 3, 2020, when Defendants adopted the Replan. Moreover, the 6 sole evidence Defendants submit in opposition to the TRO motion and the PI motion is the 7 declaration of Albert E. Fontenot, Jr., Associate Director for Decennial Census Programs at the 8 U.S. Census Bureau (hereafter, “Fontenot”). In his September 5, 2020 declaration, Fontenot 9 declares that:

10 Lack of field staff would be a barrier to reverting to the COVID Schedule were the Court
11 to rule later in September. The Census Bureau begins terminating staff as operations wind 12 down, even prior to closeout. Based on progress to date, as is standard in prior censuses, 13 we have already begun terminating some of our temporary field staff in areas that have 14 completed their work. It is difficult to bring back field staff once we have terminated their 15 employment. Were the Court to enjoin us tomorrow we would be able to keep more staff 16 on board than were the Court to enjoin us on September 29, at which point we will have 17 terminated many more employees.

18 Font. Decl. at ¶ 98. Thus, Fontenot’s declaration underscores Plaintiffs’ claims of irreparable harm 19 because the Bureau is terminating field staff now and will have difficulty rehiring such staff.
20 Moreover, Fontenot’s declaration suggests that the burden of an injunction on Defendants is far 21 less now than later in September.

22 Furthermore, Defendants’ stated reason for the August 3, 2020 Replan is to get the Census 23 count to the President by December 31, 2020 instead of April 30, 2021 as scheduled in the 24 Bureau’s COVID-19 Plan. Font. Decl. at ¶ 81. However, Defendants’ sole declarant, Fontenot, 25 acknowledged publicly less than two months ago that the Bureau is “past the window of being 26 able to get accurate counts to the President by December 31, 2020.” U.S. Census Bureau, 27 Operational Press Briefing – 2020 Census Update at 21 (July 8, 2020),

28 https://www.census.gov/content/dam/Census/newsroom/press-kits/2020/news-briefingprogramtranscript-july8.pdf. Similarly, on May 27, 2020, Tim Olson, head of field operations for the 2020 Census, stated during a May 26, 2020 webinar organized by the National Congress of 1 American Indians that, “we have passed the point where we could even meet the current 2 legislative requirement of December 31st. We can’t do that anymore.” Nat’l Conf. of Am.

3 Indians, 2020 Census Webinar: American Indian/Alaska Native, YouTube (May 26, 2020),
4 <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=F6IyJMtDDgY&feature=youtu.be&t=4689>. These statements 5 support Plaintiffs’ claims of irreparable harm arising from an inaccurate census count. On 6 balance, the Court finds that the balance of hardships tips sharply in favor of Plaintiffs.

7 As to the public interest, when the government is a party, the analysis of the balance of the 8 hardships and the public interest merge. See Drakes Bay Oyster Co. v. Jewell, 747 F.3d 1073,
9 1092 (9th Cir. 2014) (citing Nken v. Holder, 556 U.S. 418, 435 (2009)). As the United States
10 Supreme Court recognized, Congress has codified the public’s interest in “a census that is accurate 11 and that fairly accounts for the crucial representational rights that depend on the census and the 12 apportionment.” Dep’t of Commerce v. New York, 139 S. Ct. at 2569 (quoting Franklin, 505 U.S.
13 at 819–820 (Stevens, J., concurring in part and concurring in judgment)) (discussing the Census 14 Act, 2 U.S.C. § 2a). Other courts have held that “the public interest . . . requires obedience to the 15 Constitution and to the requirement that Congress be fairly apportioned, based on accurate census 16 figures” and that “it is in the public interest that the federal government distribute its funds . . . on 17 the basis of accurate census data.” Carey v. Klutznick, 637 F.2d 834, 839 (2d Cir. 1980) (per 18 curiam). Thus, the balance of the hardships and public interest tip sharply in Plaintiffs’ favor.

19 Accordingly, having considered the TRO motion, opposition, and reply; the parties’ oral 20 arguments at the September 4, 2020 TRO hearing; the PI motion and opposition; the relevant law;
21 and the record in this case, the Court GRANTS Plaintiffs’ motion for a temporary restraining 22 order. The Court finds that no security is necessary. See Jorgensen v. Cassidy, 320 F.3d 906, 919
23 (9th Cir. 2003) (“Rule 65(c) invests the district court ‘with discretion as to the amount of security 24 required, if any.’” (quoting Barahona–Gomez v. Reno, 167 F.3d 1228, 1237 (9th Cir. 1999))).

25 IT IS HEREBY ORDERED THAT, effective as of the date of this Order, Defendants 26 Commerce Secretary Wilbur L. Ross, Jr.; the U.S. Department of Commerce; the Director of the 27 U.S. Census Bureau Steven Dillingham, and the U.S. Census Bureau are enjoined from implementing the August 3, 2020 Replan or allowing to be implemented any actions as a result of the shortened timelines in the August 3, 2020 Replan, including but not limited to winding down or altering any Census field operations, until the Court conducts its September 17, 2020 hearing on Plaintiffs' PI motion.
